

The Lapis Song

Mr. Lapis Afdob
Summer Semester
To Lapis Lazuli Qn.

Copyright © 2026
by Copyright Lapis Afdob
ISBN: 123-45678-9
Printed in India

Contents

The First Meet	4
Upon A Lunch	5
Secret At Sant	6
Authors	Error! Bookmark not defined.

The First Meet

by – Lapis Afdob

The day was bright; the time was right,
the first meet we had wasn't so nice.

I looked at you; you looked at me; we never talked before so we did.

The talk was casual; the emotions are natural. You were ready to leave the team of six, before it begins.

I raised my voice; Insisted to stay,
hoping one day we will meet this way.

You heard my point; decided to stay;
Hoping that person may be my slay.

On Jan 27, you texted me first; I was a jerk who never heard.

The Isolated me not hoping for someone; The day you texted me was so splendor.

The text was simple from a face of angel; "does that insta id really you?"

I fumbled a bit before the reply; said a no with a smile.

You never texted after and I do the same, as a head of TPC it wasn't my plan.

Duty called upon you, as time fly; It was your compulsion to again reach this poor guy.

I helped you least, avoided you much as you are with him at his worst.

He wasn't so nice who defamed you much, his number one priority is to make love.

You may be silly who fell for him, he told everyone you relation will be a thing.

Upon A Lunch

by – Lapis Afdob

The time has come; you never have me
told, my personality was so much strikingly bold.

SS

I got confused you with someone else; and I fucked up the conversation as always.

That chat was short, but was a fun play; I prayed you text me over next day.

Early in the morning I sent you “Hello”;
making excuse of company just to maintain our flow.

I changed my DP which picks your eye
and in midnight you asked me “if you don’t mind...”.

Our chat became long over this night; it’s not the time to love my pride.

So, I called you for a lunch you said sure
with positive hunch.

The day was short, yet lunch went well;
putting your head upon my shoulder was truly a surprise attack.

On blustering cold your arms feels warm;
It would be perfect if we were in the farm.

I was nervous, going all blank; feeling the essence of your hair strand.

The route was short, should have been long; It’s was the beginning of something unknown.

I felt the love and your care; something would be this pleasant, I was unaware.

The time flies by, chats to calls were your next reply.

We talked a lot over the days; the days
were short and nights to stay.

I was not always a night owl, just asking
your time in the disguise.

Our calls last long beyond the zones; I reconnect to you before you were gone.

Secret At Sant

by – Lapis Afdob

On that night

The Lapis Song
by Lapis Afdob

This piece is dedicated to Lapis Lazuli Queen written with love to bind the moments and capture for the time.

Afdob has been working on this work and worked for a very short period of time to avoid crying.

He wanted to show his gratitude to lapis queen who really became a very important person of his life, even if it was a short period of time but he gets to enjoy a lot of events.

By this writing afdob wanted to tell the reader that he will never forget about her in his entire life and encourage everyone to find someone for themselves who will fill the colors in there spectry
gray life.

Thankyou
Dear, Lapis Queen

